

Remembrance

Secondary Assembly Plan

What do these flowers have in common?

The Poppy

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses,
row on row

The Marigold

Scattered like shells on Egyptian sands,
They lie with pale brows and brave,
broken hands,
They are strewn like blossoms mown
down by chance
On the blood-brown meadows of Flanders and France

What is Remembrance?

What is Remembrance?

We remember people who have served and sacrificed for and alongside the UK, including armed forces, emergency services and all those affected.

This reminds us that whenever there is fighting, there is always a human cost, both for the people fighting and for the people living in countries involved.

Remembrance is the act of stopping to remember the people affected by war and to hope for a peaceful future.

Who do we remember?

We remember all those who served and sacrificed,
and gave us our freedom today

Who do we remember?

We remember the people who have served since WWI,
for the UK and alongside the UK

Who do we remember?

We remember the emergency services, who often work alongside our armed forces

Who do we remember?

We remember civilians who have lost their lives in conflict

How do we remember?

Two minute silence

They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.
